LA impasse ends after CM Omar withdraws his 'remarks'

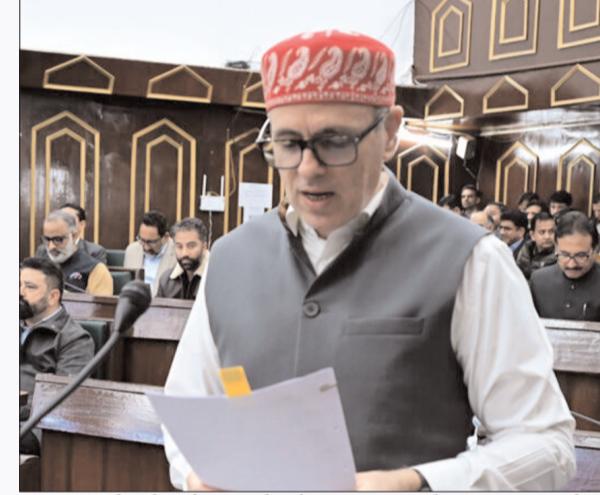

BJP MLAs protest, stage walkout

Himalayan Mail News JAMMU, FEB 11

The impasse in legislative assembly ended and order was restored after chief minister Omar Abdullah today expressed regret over the 'remarks' he had made in the House yesterday, targeting BJP members during general discussion on budget.

The chief minister requested Speaker Abdul Rahim Rather to expunge his remarks, if found unparliamentary.

BJP members had been protesting since morning. They even staged a walkout during Question Hour after holding a protest inside the House for nearly half an hour. They demanded that the chief minister should come to the House and tender an apology for his remarks.

Towards the fag end of Question Hour, Omar briefly entered the House. Immediately after Question Hour, he moved the listed "Bill to amend the J&K State Civil Courts Act" and then left.

BJP members also returned to the House and resumed their protest, objecting to the chief minister's absence. They urged the chair to direct the CM to come to the House and retract his "unparliamentary" statement.

The Speaker stated that the BJP members had closed their case by staging a walkout. However, they resumed their protest after a brief verbal duel with the ministers and the Chair. They sat in the well of the House, raising slogans as the discussion on demands for grants commenced.

At about 12.11 pm, Omar again came to the House, and BJP MLA Sham Sharma reiterated that the chief minister should retract his remarks, which he said might have been a slip of the tongue.

Responding briefly, the chief minister said, "Had they given me an opportunity to speak yesterday, I would have withdrawn my remarks. But they did not."

"As far as emotions are concerned, things do get said in the heat of the moment. If what I said hurt them, I regret that," the chief minister said.

He, however, said whatever he said was about them, he did not bring any of their family members into it.

He also took a dig at the Leader of the Opposition, who was not present in the House, and accused him of dragging his (the CM's) family into the controversy.

Judicial process can become punishment if misused: SC

NEW DELHI, FEB 11:

The Supreme Court has said fidelity to the rule of law requires the court to remember that the process itself can become the punishment if this responsibility is not exercised with care as it quashed the charges of caste-based violence against a whistleblower in the Madhya Pradesh VYAPAM examination scam.

Anand Rai had challenged the Madhya Pradesh High Court order upholding the framing of charges in a case of caste-based atrocities arising from alleged violence and abuse against an MP, MLA and government officials during a rally in 2022.

A bench of justices Sajay

Karol and N Kotiswar Singh which quashed the charges under SC/ST Act against Rai said the court must consciously distinguish between a genuine case that warrants a trial and one that rests only on suspicion or assumption or for that matter without any basis.

"It is dealing with real people, real anxieties, and the real weight of criminal prosecution. Judicial responsibility at this stage calls for care, balance, and an honest engagement with the facts on record. The power to frame a charge is not meant to be exercised by default or out of caution alone," it said.

The verdict, which was pronounced by the bench on Tuesday but was uploaded on Wednesday said that at the stage of framing of charge or considering discharge, the court is not dealing with an abstract legal exercise.

"To allow a matter to proceed despite the absence of a prima facie case is to expose a person to the strain, stigma, and uncertainty of criminal proceedings without legal necessity. Fidelity to the rule of law requires the Court to remember that the process itself can become the punishment if this responsibility is not exercised with care," the top

50 pc polling stations considered 'risky', CCTVs installed

DHAKA, FEB 11: More than half the polling centres have been identified as "risk-prone" for the general elections in Bangladesh, as officials said 90 per cent of them would be under CCTV surveillance, with many policemen deployed in the capital, Dhaka, wearing body cameras.

Bangladesh will hold parliamentary elections on February 12 - the first since the ouster of Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina in massive-wide protests in August 2024.

Officials said the election would witness the largest-ever deployment of law enforcement personnel and the most extensive use of technology in the country's electoral history.

Sanaullah said the poll body expected law enforcement agencies to ensure a peaceful atmosphere for voters during polling and system was based on risk assessment.

He said the EC was largely satisfied with the current law-and-order situation and "compared to any time in the past, we are in a better position now".

His comments came hours after the police Inspector General Baharul Alam said they found 24,000 out of nearly 43,000 polling centres across the country were "high" or "moderate" risk-prone election stations.

Police said they provided a list of risk-prone polling centres to the EC, which showed that out of 2,131

'Agri First' policy will ensure developed India, Aatma Nirbhar J&K: LG

Himalayan Mail News JAMMU, FEB 11

Stating that technology and agriculture development must go hand in hand, LG Manoj Sinha today said that 'Agriculture First' policy would ensure Developed India and Aatma-Nirbhar Jammu & Kashmir.

"Agriculture and allied sectors are the ultimate insurance policy that no developing society or nation can afford to ignore," he

He called for making the technology tools affordable and accessible which can predict output using weather, soil, and crop data so small and marginal farmers can plan their crops strategically.

"Technology and agriculture development must go hand in hand. Technological progress births new startups, industries and unicorns and fields birth life itself. While technology creates opportunities, agriculture and allied sectors create survival. Strong agriculture means a strong nation. Strong agriculture sector is the foundation of national resilience, advanced economy and human prosperity," the LG said.

He extended his heartfelt gratitude to the agricultural scientists and the farming community, attributing the India's emergence as global top performer in agriculture and allied sectors to their relentless hard work and in

US used Pakistan, then threw it away like toilet paper: Pak Def Min

Himalayan Mail News JAMMU, FEB 11

Pak Defence Minister Khawaja Asif has delivered one of the bluntest official acknowledgements yet of Islamabad's troubled history with the United States, accusing Washington of exploiting Pakistan for strategic goals and then discarding it once those objectives were achieved.

Speaking in the National Assembly, Asif said Pakistan had long avoided owning up to its past, calling that denial is a mistake that continues to haunt the country.

In unusually candid remarks, the minister said

Pakistan's repeated alignment with the US, particularly around the Afghan wars, proved disastrous.

He accused Washington of 'exploiting' Pakistan for strategic interests and throwing it away 'like a used piece of toilet paper'.

Talking about Islamabad's past alignment with the United States in Pakistan's National Assembly, Asif said Pakistan often denied its terror history, calling it a "mistake committed by dictators in the past."

Saying that the terrorism in Pakistan was due to past mistakes, the Pakistani minister called Islamabad's involvement in two Afghan wars a 'mistake,'

According to reports, he said Pakistan's decision to realign with Washington after 1999, in connection with Afghanistan, caused long-term harm to the country.

Khwaja Asif admitted in Parliament that Pakistan rented itself out to the US for war and was later discarded "like toilet paper".

The Defence Minister said the costs of realigning with the US after the September 11, 2001, attacks, were devastating. "Pakistan was treated worse than a piece of toilet paper and was used for a purpose and then thrown away," he
