Ranbir Kapoor's Ramayana Praised After First-Cut Show; HC Halts Release Of The Kerala Story 2 Rights

Nitesh Tiwari's Ramayana is one of the most-awaited films. While everyone is eagerly waiting to watch Ranbir Kapoor's Lord Ram avatar in theatres, people in Los Angeles recently witnessed Tiwari's creation on screen. As reported by The Week, the first-ever screening of Ramayana was held in Los Angeles at the Cinemark Playa Vista movie screen for a select group of people. Reportedly, people from the age group 18-60 attended the first-cut show, following which they praised the movie.

The Kerala High Court on Wednesday directed the makers of 'Kerala Story 2' to hold the release of the film's rights, noting that the petitioner's apprehension against the movie is "probably genuine" and told them to wait for the court's decision. The film, which is scheduled to hit theatres on February 27, 2026, has been facing backlash for its portrayal of Indian Muslims. It has also been accused of making exaggerated claims. A biologist named Sreedev Nambodiri filed a petition in the Kerala High Court seeking either a stay on the release and public exhibition of the film, citing "malicious" portrayal of the state.
