

Naagin 7 To Go Off-Air Soon, Ekta Kapoor Reveals Finale Episode Date: 'We Will Be Back Next Year'

Naagin 7, which features Priyanka Chahar Chaudhary in the lead role, premiered on 27 December 2025. Now, producer Ekta Kapoor has confirmed that the show is all set to go off-air soon. She shared an update on social media, revealing that the season was originally planned for just 30 episodes but was extended to over 48 episodes following the channel's request. She also revealed that the finale episode will air on her birthday, June 7, and that they will be back next year with another season.

Ekta Kapoor explained that since the season has already been extended beyond its original format, it will now come to an end. In her video message, she said the show was initially meant to wrap up earlier but was extended due to the channel's request, and added that future seasons will likely be shorter to allow her to focus on other projects.

"As always, I'm here to give some update on Naagin. Guys, I had done that post yesterday and I just realized that people were creating a storm. But yeah, we were supposed to end in April, now because of the channel's request, we're ending on my birthday. None of the Naagin seasons were supposed to be like this. It was supposed to be just 30 episodes, but we extended it for 48 episodes, and then we will be back next year," said Ekta Kapoor.

She further added, "So in order to have Naagin back every year, we should do shorter seasons so that I don't have to give all my time and I can go back to doing other things. So already it's an extended season from 30 episodes, and we are going to be on air for almost 6 months, and we'll be back next year after a break."

About Naagin 7

Naagin 7 stars Priyanka Chahar Chaudhary in the lead role, with the storyline recently centering around an intense love triangle involving her character. Since its premiere, the show has performed strongly on television ratings, often competing with other top shows for viewership.

Karisma Kapoor Warns Paparazzi 'Zyada Zoom Mat Karna' As They Click Her | Video Goes Viral

Several actresses have called out paparazzi for zooming in while capturing them from behind. Now, a video of Karisma Kapoor is going viral in which she warns the paparazzi not to shoot her inappropriately.

Karisma Kapoor will be seen as one of the judges, along with Geeta Kapur, Terence Lewis, and Jaaved Jaaferi, on India's Best Dancer Season 5. Today, all the celebs reached the sets of the show for the shoot. The celebs posed for the paparazzi on set, and that's when Karisma warned the cameramen stationed at the location. While moving away from the place where they were posing, Karisma said, "Zyada zoom mat karna (Don't zoom too much)." Watch the video below...

As soon as the video went viral, several netizens reacted to it. One wrote, "There was one video I saw where Sid and Kiara were posing together for some event, and these paps just cropped out Sid and were zooming on Kiara's upper body. Truly vile and disrespectful." Another wrote, "All actors and actresses should come together, assign a staff to cover their back very obviously when they turn, when all of them do it, pap will stop doing it." A third user commented, "The fact that this needs to be told to grown ass individuals!"

More about Karisma Kapoor

The makers of the reality show recently unveiled the teaser of India's Best Dancer Season 5, featuring Karisma Kapoor. Karisma Kapoor has given Indian cinema some of its most unforgettable songs and signature moves. From chartbusters that ruled the '90s to timeless dance anthems that still dominate everyone's playlists and social media reels, her legacy continues to inspire dancers of all age groups.

With renewed energy and a deep passion for nurturing talent, Karisma returns to the India's Best Dancer stage, ready to cheer, mentor, and celebrate India's finest dancers. Fans are especially excited to see her recreate iconic moments, groove to legendary hits, and bring her trademark elegance and vibe back to prime-time television.

For the unversed, the fourth season was judged by Karisma, Terence Lewis, and Geeta Kapoor. It was hosted by Jay Bhanushali and Aniket Chauhan.

Raashii Khanna Shares BTS Glimpses From Upcoming Series Lukkhe, Says 'Some Things Don't Leave You...'

Actor Raashii Khanna is steadily building anticipation around Lukkhe, a series she headlines, by sharing behind-the-scenes moments that hint at a character layered with quiet intensity. The buzz comes on the heels of a teaser that has already piqued audience curiosity, with viewers intrigued by the tone, mystery, and the character she brings to life, and further amped up with the trailer which is about to release on 29th April.

Taking to social media, the actress shared BTS moments and shared a hint about the character she plays. She offered a window into the emotional depth of her role, and wrote in the caption, "I have always been drawn to characters who look like they are holding it together but are carrying something much heavier underneath. Some things don't leave you. They just change the way you move. Coming soon! #lukkhe."

The BTS images strike a careful balance between simplicity and intrigue. The detailing adds an unexpected layer, a glimpse of a prop strapped at the ankle, subtly shifting the tone from casual to covert. It's a visual cue that suggests there's more to this character than meets the eye.

About Lukkhe

With Lukkhe, Raashii Khanna appears to be stepping into a space that is both controlled and complex, leading the narrative with a performance that promises depth. The series also stars King, adding to the growing anticipation, and is set to release on Amazon Prime Video on 8th May. She is also set to reprise her role in Farzi 2 alongside Shahid Kapoor and Vijay Sethupathi, which is also part of the platform's upcoming slate.

Meanwhile, she is also set to reunite with Vikrant Massey in Taklakhon Mein Ek, adding another compelling collaboration to her lineup. Looking ahead, she will be seen in an upcoming film alongside Akshay Kumar and Vidya Balan, directed by Anees Bazmee, and will also share screen space with R. Madhavan in Bridge.

Kim Kardashian at beach in sexy black lingerie
Kim is so irresistible in this sheer black lingerie she poses with perfection in.

Megan Thee Stallion To Exit Moulin Rouge! The Musical Early, Confirms Final Show Date

Just weeks after making a splash on one of the theatre's biggest stages, Megan Thee Stallion is already preparing to wrap up a chapter that had fans and Broadway watchers equally curious. Her stint in Moulin Rouge! The Musical may have been short, but it definitely didn't go unnoticed.

The rapper-actor confirmed that she will exit the production earlier than planned, with her final performance now set for May 1 instead of the originally scheduled May 17. She shared the update directly with fans on Instagram.

"Hotties, my last performance as Zidler in @moulinrougebway will be May 1 ?????," she wrote in an Instagram post on April 27. "It's been such an honor to be part of the Moulin Rouge family and I've met so many amazing people in this theater! Y'all work so hard and I have so much respect for the dedication, the stamina, the work ethic, the time and the effort y'all put into the work!"

"I'm so grateful for the cast and crew that made this experience so meaningful," she continued. "And to all the Hotties that showed up or planned to attend, thank you for supporting me during this incredible journey! I LOVE YALL?? See you soon ??"

Megan made her Broadway debut on March

24 at the Al Hirschfeld Theatre, stepping into the role of Harold Zidler, the flamboyant impresario of the iconic Paris nightclub. Her casting turned heads from the start — she became the first female-identifying performer to take on the character in any production of the musical worldwide. The role was originally played by Danny Burstein when the show premiered on Broadway in 2019.

Burstein, speaking to People, had earlier shared how warmly Megan was received behind the scenes and by audiences. "All my friends who are still in the show, the people backstage, they all are crazy about her. They all love her so much," he said. "And the producers are telling me that the audiences are going nuts. I'm so, so incredibly happy for her. I just want her to succeed and shine. And I want the show to succeed and shine."

You May Like

AI governance will decide cloud strategy in India — not just cost or performance

CIO | Tata Communications
by TaboolaSponsored Links
Her time on stage hasn't been without challenges. Megan had to miss two performances on March 31 due to a hospitalization, before returning on April 2. Opening up about the experience, she described it as "a real wake-up call." "I've been pushing myself past my limits lately, running on empty, and my body finally said enough," she wrote in an April 1 Instagram post. "It