

'Garbage': Netizens Troll Shahid Kapoor, Kriti Sanon, Rashmika Mandanna's Bandhu 2.0

Shahid Kapoor predicted it and now it's happening. Cocktail 2's newly released song, Bandhu 2.0, which is a remake of the iconic 'Tumhi Ho Bandhu' track has left netizens disappointed. Soon after the song was released on Wednesday, several social media users took to their respective X handles and accused the makers of 'spoiling' the hit song from the 2012 movie. While some called the new track 'garbage', others reiterated what Shahid Kapoor joked in song's teaser 'troll ho jaaenge'.

"The Recently released Bandhu 2.0 song from #Cocktail2 is GARBAGE. It was not needed. Though this song sequence is not going to be in the movie, it will be at different point, but still what's the point of releasing this FROOTI ADVERTISE-MENT," one of the users wrote. "This #Bollywood industry is literally destroying its own classics. Instead of creating something original, they just keep ruining the originals," added another. "What's wrong with the makers? Why did they shift the trend from outdoor locations to studios only?" a third user asked.

However, some of the users also defended the song and claimed that it is now remakes should be done. "For me it's a fun song and self humour, meta comedy was there they know and they are aware of what they are doing and taking shots on the remake trend, they even said in the video when Kriti said let's remake this song and Shahid said ke "Pagal Hai Kya Troll Ho Jayenge" it was so funny," wrote a user.

Directed by Homi Adajania, Cocktail 2 is produced by Dinesh Vijan, Luv Ranjan and Ankur Garg. The screenplay has been written by Tarun Jain and Luv Ranjan. The film will hit theatres on June 19, 2026.

Sharvari And Sunny Kaushal Reportedly Part Ways, Reason Behind Their Breakup Revealed

Sharvari and Sunny Kaushal were often regarded as one of Bollywood's most-loved low-key couples. While neither of them ever spoke extensively about their relationship in public, the two were frequently spotted together and were believed to have grown close after working on Kabir Khan's The Forgotten Army - Azaadi Ke Liye (2020). However, according to recent reports, the actors have reportedly parted ways after several years of dating. While neither Sharvari nor Sunny has addressed the speculation, a fresh report has now shed light on what may have led to their breakup.

However, according to multiple media reports, Sharvari and Sunny Kaushal, once regarded as one of Bollywood's most loved low-key couples, reportedly went their separate ways in 2025. While neither actor has publicly confirmed the breakup, fresh reports suggest that differences stemming from their evolving career trajectories may have played a role in the split. With Sharvari's star rising rapidly in recent years and Sunny still awaiting a major breakthrough, it is being said that the growing disparity in their professional journeys may have created distance between the two.

According to a report by Free Press Journal, Sharvari's rising fame and increasingly busy professional commitments may have contributed to the distance in her relationship with Sunny, who is known for films like Chor Nikal Ke Bhaga, Shiddat and Phir Aayi Haseen Dillruba. The report claimed that as her career gained momentum and she landed bigger projects, the couple gradually grew apart, eventually deciding to part ways. A source told the portal, "Sharvari is more famous than Sunny today. So, it kind of made things awkward between the two. And, it is one of the reasons that got them to go their separate ways in 2025." Neither Sharvari nor Sunny Kaushal has publicly addressed the reported reasons behind their alleged split.

Meanwhile, amid the breakup reports, speculation has also linked Sharvari to her Main Vaapas Aaunga co-star Vedang Raina, who was earlier dating Khushi Kapoor. However, both actors have maintained that they share a close friendship and have not indicated that there is anything more to their relationship.

On the work front, Sharvari is currently winning praise for her performance in Imtiaz Ali's Main Vaapas Aaunga. Next, she has YRF's Alpha alongside Alia Bhatt, Anil Kapoor, and Bobby Deol. The film is set to hit theatres on July 3.
