

Shakira Announces First-Ever Full Concert Global Livestream From Madrid; Here’s How To Watch In India

Shakira is taking one of the closing nights of her Las Mujeres Ya No Lloran World Tour beyond the arena. The Colombian superstar will livestream her Madrid performance worldwide on October 3, marking the first time a complete Shakira concert will be broadcast globally in this format.

Titled Shakira Live from Madrid, the show will stream from her ES Latina European Residency as the singer reaches the final stretch of the tour. For viewers in India, the concert will begin at 12:15 AM IST on October 4 and can be watched through the Amazon Music India app, Prime Video, Fire TV and the Amazon Music channel on Twitch. A paid subscription will not be required.

The Madrid concert is part of The Women Shaping Latin Music, a larger 2026 programme built around women who have influenced Latin music, artists carrying it forward today and newer voices emerging behind them. For Shakira, however, the livestream also brings one of the most personal touring chapters of her career to a much wider audience.

Shakira Says The Tour Became ‘More Than I Could Ever Have Imagined’

The Las Mujeres Ya No Lloran era grew out of a turbulent period in Shakira’s personal life and eventually produced both an album and a mammoth international tour.

Speaking about bringing the Madrid show to viewers around the world, Shakira said, “The Las Mujeres Ya No Lloran World Tour has become more than I could ever have imagined, and I am so proud of it. I’m so excited to take it even further by sharing this special evening with fans around the world, together with Amazon Music.”

The show arrives after a year in which the singer has continued to command a large global audience. According to figures shared as part of the announcement, Dai Dai is the platform’s most-streamed song worldwide in 2026 so far, while Shakira is its most-listened-to Latina artist globally over the same period.

The Madrid performance will serve as the biggest live component of the wider celebration, but the programme stretches well beyond the concert itself.

Fans attending the ES Latina residency in Madrid will also be able to walk through an exhibition devoted to Shakira’s career.

Titled El Museo Shakira, the interactive experience will trace different stages of her journey across music, fashion, cultural influence and social initiatives. Alexa+ will guide visitors through the exhibition.

The residency will also feature an all-women stage, where performers will reinterpret some of Shakira’s best-known songs live.

The actor further continued and added, “When did we become so insensitive to each other? What kind of parenting is going on? What kind of society are we living in? Where we find joy in degrading each other? At a time when the world is debating and fearing how AI disrupts livelihoods and takes away jobs, these idiots are using that very technology to do utter nonsense.”

Vijay further concluded by writing, “This is the digital equivalent of sexual assault. The law must treat such acts with utmost seriousness. And to the team standing up against this, you have my full support.”

Using AI to create something this vile is shameful beyond words.”
